

The vertical micro- series studio

From script to publishing on TikTok, Reels and Shorts, in seven steps, with AI.

Sales presentation · October 2026 · giiher.studio

THE PROBLEM

Vertical fiction is taking over, but production is still handmade

Shooting is expensive

Actors, sets, crew and editing for every few-second episode.

The pace is unsustainable

TikTok, Reels and Shorts reward consistency: you need a steady flow of episodes.

Tools are scattered

One tool for the script, one for images, one for video, voice, editing, and characters that change from one shot to the next.

THE SOLUTION

One studio, from idea to published episode.

Writing, casting, storyboard, video generation, editing, thumbnail and publishing flow in one workspace. Each step builds on the last: script characters become the cast, the cast feeds the boards, the boards become video shots.

AI suggests at every step, your team decides.

Seven steps, one thread

01	02	03	04	05	06	07
Script	Casting	Storyboard	Generation	Editing	Thumbnail	Publishing
Written by AI, imported or written line by line.	Photos, voices and reference views of each character.	One angle board per shot; you keep the best frames.	Each shot becomes a video, with synced voice and lips.	Music, sound effects, subtitles: the final episode in 9:16.	A cover with an embedded title that makes people want to click.	Download, or schedule on TikTok, Reels and Shorts.

Nothing to export or re-enter between tools: each step picks up the previous one's work, with a single credit balance.

CONSISTENCY

Characters who stay themselves, shot after shot

Reference views for every character and every set, reused across the whole series.

Angle boards

The same moment seen by 1, 4 or 9 cameras. The chosen frames become the starting images of the videos.

Edits and versions

Prompt-based edits, framing variants, history to roll back to a previous version.

One series, several markets

20

ready-to-use multilingual voices, with performance direction

6

dubbing languages, with lip sync

1

audio clip is enough to create your own voice

The same series adapts to another language without redoing the images. Word-by-word karaoke subtitles, in your series' style.

THE EXPRESS EPISODE

A complete episode, in one click.

From the script, the studio chains casting, boards, videos, editing, subtitles and thumbnail.
The episode arrives ready to publish, and every shot stays editable in the usual screens.
